President Rodrigo Duterte has stepped in to break a deadlock between the Department of Budget and Management (DBM) and the House of Representatives on his P3.76-trillion proposed cash-based budget for 2019.

House Majority Leader Rolando Andaya Jr. said on Wednesday that the President met with him and Speaker Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo on Tuesday night for a discussion of the congressmen's concerns about the cash-based system adopted by the DBM in drawing up next year's budget.

Preferring the old obligation-based system, the House suspended hearings on the 2019 budget last week to give the executive time to make "necessary changes" to the President's proposed spending program.
